Heroin overdoses frequently begin with a traumatic injury and a pain killer prescription- that leads to addiction

- When valid pain killer prescriptions run out, patients often find themselves addicted.
- Heroin then becomes a less expensive and accessible alternative.
- But Heroin is 'cut' with other drugs (Fentanyl) that often cause overdoses and sometimes result in death.
